MOVES

My potential tenant is a HCV participant and I want to know if they can afford my unit. Can I check that on the Owner Portal?

In order to calculate if your unit is affordable for a HCV participant, you first need to gather information about the prospective tenant, such as their voucher size, annual gross income and adjusted gross income.

Then, hover over the ‘MOVES’ menu, and click on ‘Affordability Calculator’.

Complete the fillable fields with the participant’s information you gathered. Then, enter the unit information. For the utility responsibilities, only check the boxes for utilities that the tenant would be responsible to pay. Click the ‘Submit’ button to continue.

A message will appear notifying you if the rent and utility responsibilities would be affordable or not. If the rent is not affordable, the message will list the maximum monthly rent that the tenant would be able to afford given the income and utility responsibilities listed.

Note: This tool is used to generate an estimate of whether the requested rent (including the assigned utility responsibilities) is affordable for a HCV participant. The estimate is solely based on the form inputs and does not guarantee that CHA will grant the rent you requested for a specific unit. CHA’s rent offer takes many additional factors into consideration, including a rent reasonableness analysis of comparable market-rate units.
